I told the ada that lab equipment "inspections" are usually denied and need to go through to our superiors in boston for any approval and they are always denied. I told her I would forward this to you. (for shits and giggles)

Hi Rebecca,

The defense attorneys have filed discovery motions in these cases requesting your case file and also copies of any written protocols or standards that you are required to follow. One of them has also requested that the lab equipment be "made available" for inspection. I know you can provide the case file, are there any written protocols etc? What do you think about the defense being able to come to the lab (which I doubt would actually happen)?

Thanks,
Melissa
